

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reinforcement for prefabricated concrete panels with improved bonding with concrete, which comprises profiles to be embedded in a concrete body of a panel. At least some of the profiles have perforations and 5 undulations which are suitable to increase the bonding between the profiles and the concrete body of the panel.